Z-score Relative Performance: Average Across RT Timepoints

Z-scores are computed within each metric after aligning direction; positive values indicate above-average relative performance for that metric.